

CONSULTING CASE INTERVIEW RESOURCES

---

What is a case interview?

Case interviews are a crucial part of the hiring process in the consulting industry. They are designed to test an applicant's knowledge of business and financial models, their ability to think fast, and sometimes even how well they work as part of a team.

Simply put, a case interview is the analysis of a business question. Unlike most other interview questions, it is an interactive process. Your interviewer will present you with a business problem and ask you for your opinion. Your job is to ask the interviewer logical questions that will permit you to make a detailed recommendation. The majority of case interviewers don't have a specific answer that you, the candidate, are expected to give. What the interviewer is looking for is a thought process that is both analytical and creative (what consultants love to call "out-of-the-box" thinking). Specific knowledge of the industry covered by the case question is a bonus but not necessary.

The interview with a consulting company normally lasts about 30 minutes. Of this time, about 5 to 10 minutes is spent with preliminary chat and behavioral questions and five minutes of you asking questions about the company. This leaves 5 to 15 minutes for your case interview question or questions.

How do I prepare?

Read about the case interview process, learn about the various frameworks to draw upon during the case interview, and practice mental math problems. Research firms using Vault, Glassdoor, company websites, and the Consulting Firm Directory on Management Consulted - <https://managementconsulted.com/consulting-firm-directory>

Make sure you schedule plenty of time to practice case interviewing with a partner, alumnae/i and Career & Civic Engagement Center staff. See below for ways to connect with people to practice cases.

Don't Forget About the Other Interview Questions!

In addition to case interviews, candidates for consultant positions will also have interviews where they will be asked standard interview questions along with behavioral questions focused on the skills they are seeking (i.e., analytical, problem solving, communication, initiative, etc.)

Be prepared to answer:

- Why do you want to work in consulting?
- Why are you interested in this firm specifically?
- What are your strengths and weaknesses?
- Behavioral questions:
  - Describe a situation when you successfully persuaded someone to see things your way.
  - Tell me about a time you were under a lot of pressure. What was going on, and how did you get through it.
  - Describe how you would handle not being able to answer a question on the spot.
- Why should we hire you?
